

Reviewers at Taiwan Assessment and Evaluation Association

On average, Taiwan Assessment and Evaluation Association dispatched 1000+ reviewers per year to finish our evaluation projects on technological universities, colleges and junior colleges in Taiwan. These reviewers come from three possible backgrounds: universities, vocational schools (including technological universities, colleges and junior colleges) as well as the business sector. Taking into account of the founding spirits behind vocational schools, at least 25% of the reviewers that we dispatched must come from the business sector, and they would provide professional opinions on linking between education and the actual practices. At least another 25% of the reviewers must come from the vocational schools, because they would have personal experience in teaching at a school in the vocational education system. In general, all reviewers from the academia shall be professors with seniority, and reviewers from the business sector shall have experience at the senior executive level. In regard of the evaluation at institutional level, TWAEA goes a step further and carefully selects qualified reviewers with previous experience of serving at senior management level at a higher education institution (preferably Presidents/Vice-Presidents). Besides these qualifications, we have clear rules to avoid conflict of interests in place. All of appointed reviewers must also go through training sessions before actually dispatched to on-site visits. In the following, we have included an excerpt of the list of reviewers from our 2007 Technology University Evaluation Project, commissioned by the Ministry of Education.
